Class Meeting Schedule and Format

This lab is an asynchronous online class. This means you can work through the material each week on your own schedule. Each module opens at 12:00am Sunday ET and is due by 11:59pm Saturday ET. It is recommended that you find a consistent time to work through each week's materials and assignments and treat the course as a regularly scheduled commitment.

Course Description

This course introduces students to the many varied professional trajectories in environmental science. It also provides hands-on experience in data collection and analysis for environmental science and management.

Prerequisites

CHM 2045 or CHM 2047 or CHM 2095

Course Materials

There are no required textbooks. Materials will be made available via Canvas.

Course Objectives

Environmental science is an interdisciplinary field of study that combines physical, biological, and information science to understand the effects of natural and anthropogenic processes on the environment. Because of the diversity and interconnectedness of all aspects of human-environment relationships, environmental science careers are equally varied. Environmental scientists work on problems spanning biogeochemical cycles, energy systems, pollution control and mitigation, natural resource management, conservation of ecosystems, and much more!

Our objective in this lab is to expose you to the diversity of environmental careers, introduce you to methods in environmental research, and provide professional development opportunities to help you progress in the field. Lab activities will break roughly into three categories:

- Career exploration activities, where you will either hear from an environmental science professional about their career trajectory, or you will be asked to read about a topic in environmental science and participate in an online discussion.

- Research exercises, where you will learn about common methods for studying environmental problems from different perspectives, including policy, human dimensions, and biology. This will include hands-on projects as well as a basic introduction to data analysis.
- Professional development activities, where we will focus on key practical skills such as finding career opportunities that interest you and preparing compelling application materials.

These activities correspond to the three primary learning outcomes for the course. At the conclusion of this course, students will be able to:

- Recognize the many possible professional trajectories in environmental science, research environmental career opportunities, and evaluate how they fit with students' current skills and long-term career objectives.
- Plan and execute basic research projects to address questions in the natural and social dimensions of environmental science.
- Generate professional communications and application materials for career opportunities.

Communication

All course communication will be done through Canvas. Please check Canvas regularly to keep up to date. If you have questions, I will try to respond to Canvas messages within 48 hours. You may want to work on your assignments early so you have time to reach out if you run into any sticking points. Office hours are held on Zoom and the passcode is EVS3000L. Please reach out to me on Canvas to schedule an appointment.

Weekly assignments

Weekly assignments will be due each week on Saturday by 11:59pm ET. I recommend working on them early so you can reach out to me or your classmates if you have questions!

The final project will be due on December 4 at 11:59pm ET.

Final project

Instead of a final exam, students in this course will complete a final project. More details about the activity will be discussed in class by mid-semester.

Course Grading

Grades and Grade Points

For information on current UF policies for assigning grade points, see:

<https://catalog.ufl.edu/ugrad/current/regulations/info/grades.aspx>

Late Policy

Everyone will get one no-questions-asked, one-week extension on a weekly assignment. To use this, send me a message letting me know that you will not be able to complete the assignment on time. This does not apply to the final project.

After that, late assignments will be marked down by 10% and an additional 10% each week they are late. If circumstances arise and you have trouble completing either the final project or multiple weekly assignments on time, I encourage you to get in touch with me.

Online Course Evaluation Process

Student assessment of instruction is an important part of efforts to improve teaching and learning. Students are expected to provide professional and respectful feedback on the quality of instruction in this course by completing course evaluations online via GatorEvals. Guidance on how to give feedback in a professional and respectful manner is available at:

<https://gatorevals.aa.ufl.edu/students/>. Students will be notified when the evaluation period opens and can complete evaluations through the email they receive from GatorEvals, in their Canvas course menu under GatorEvals, or via <https://ufl.bluera.com/ufl/>. Summaries of course evaluation results are available to students at <https://gatorevals.aa.ufl.edu/public-results/>.

Academic Honesty

As a student at the University of Florida, you have committed yourself to uphold the Honor Code, which includes the following pledge: “We, the members of the University of Florida community, pledge to hold ourselves and our peers to the highest standards of honesty and integrity.” You are expected to exhibit behavior consistent with this commitment to the UF academic community, and on all work submitted for credit at the University of Florida, the following pledge is either required or implied: “On my honor, I have neither given nor received unauthorized aid in doing this assignment.”

It is assumed that you will complete all work independently in each course unless the instructor provides explicit permission for you to collaborate on course tasks (e.g. assignments, papers, quizzes, exams). Furthermore, as part of your obligation to uphold the Honor Code, you should report any condition that facilitates academic misconduct to appropriate personnel. It is your individual responsibility to know and comply with all university policies and procedures regarding academic integrity and the Student Honor Code. Violations of the Honor Code at the University of Florida will not be tolerated. Violations will be reported to the Dean of Students Office for consideration of disciplinary action. For more information regarding the Student Honor Code, please see: <https://www.dso.ufl.edu/sccr/process/student-conduct-honor-code/>

Software Use

All faculty, staff and students of the university are required and expected to obey the laws and legal agreements governing software use. Failure to do so can lead to monetary damages and/or criminal penalties for the individual violator. Because such violations are also against university policies and rules, disciplinary action will be taken as appropriate.

Campus Helping Resources

Students experiencing crises or personal problems that interfere with their general wellbeing are encouraged to utilize the university’s counseling resources. The Counseling & Wellness Center provides confidential counseling services at no cost for currently enrolled students. Resources are available on campus for students having personal problems or lacking clear career or academic goals, which interfere with their academic performance.

Academic Resources:

- E-learning technical support: Contact the UF Computing Help Desk at 352-392-4357 or via e-mail at helpdesk@ufl.edu.
- Career Connections Center: Reitz Union Suite 1300, 352-392-1601. Career assistance and counseling services.
- Library Support: Various ways to receive assistance with respect to using the libraries or finding resources.
- Teaching Center: Broward Hall, 352-392-2010 or to make an appointment 352- 392-6420. General study skills and tutoring.

- Writing Studio: 2215 Turlington Hall, 352-846-1138. Help brainstorming, formatting, and writing papers.
